

Stephanie Sicore

832-289-9941 steph@sicore.com <http://stephs.com> Currently residing in Red Oak, TX 75451

Profile

My professional and volunteer experience includes teaching art to children and adolescents within public schools and museums. I also created a popular parenting project blog that was designed to follow the content of a classic (if not comically anachronistic) vintage activity book. I excelled at turning over freelance digital portrait photography. As a mother of four, now ready to leave the home (more frequently) and work professionally again, I am eager to continue building my creative career.

Experience

BLOG CREATOR, BOYS ALMANAC.COM – 2012-PRESENT

- Created parenting project blog to follow the outline of the classic children's book, The American Boy's Handy Book
- Took digital photos and edited them in Adobe Lightroom
- Used Adobe Creative Suite to create and design blog and content

HOMESCHOOL ART DISCOVERY LEAD, BAY AREA HOMESCHOOLERS – 2009-2011

- Led groups of 5-7 students in age-appropriate project-based art fundamentals classes
- Helped students create sketchblogs of their artwork to document their creative process, For an example, see: <http://ford.sicore.com/>
- Created an Ohlone Craft Unit designed to introduce materials and methods Native American Indians of the Ohlone tribe in Northern California crafted boats from rushes and baskets from reeds, among other skills
- Took students outside for plain air painting and drawing from observation

- Taught 3D units in ceramics, papier-mâché, basic woodworking and joinery of found objects
- Led student groups around the Bay Area attractions and museums, guiding parents responsible for different ages with engaging, robust plans for each destination

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL ART TEACHER, CHAIRPERSON OF ART CONNECTIONS, MARSHALL LANE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, SARATOGA, CA – 2006-2008

- Enhanced the core curriculum to increase student engagement in the classroom
- Curated student art show at culmination of year
- Created collaborative online community to share student work, progress and discuss future plans for the program

JUNIOR SCHOOL ART INSTRUCTOR & AIDE TO THE DEAN OF THE JUNIOR SCHOOL, GLASS ELL JUNIOR SCHOOL OF ART, HOUSTON, TX 2003-2005

- Created lesson plans for classes in multi-media to both 6-8 and 8-10 year-olds
- Took classes out of the classroom as a part of curriculum, visited MFAH and Noguchi Sculpture Garden for lessons in drawing and painting from observation
- Curated student art in quarterly shows
- Assisted Dean of Junior School in coordinating collaborative projects among scholarship students for school benefactors
- Participated in Outreach Program, bringing lesson plans to lower-income Hispanic community in Houston

Education

BA Biology, Texas A&M University 1997

The Rhode Island School of Design ID '1994